

The image shows a large, multi-level atrium of a modern university library. The space is characterized by its high ceilings, white structural columns, and glass railings on the upper levels. On the ground floor, there are several round wooden tables with chairs, where people are seen sitting and reading. Bookshelves are arranged in a circular pattern around the central area. The upper levels also feature bookshelves and study areas. The overall atmosphere is bright and open, with natural light coming from large windows on the right side. The text "Introduction to Hiroshima University Library" is overlaid in the center of the image in a large, bold, black font with a white outline.

The screenshot shows the Hiroshima University Library website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the library logo, site search, and links for Hiroshima University and Kasumi Library. Below this is a secondary navigation bar with links for Guide, Search Holdings, Databases, Collections, Guidance - Reference, About Us, and Contact Us. The main content area features a 'User Menu' on the left with options like 'Your Library Record', 'InterLibrary Copy Request', and 'Alert'. The center has a large banner for the library's Facebook page. To the right, there is a table showing the opening hours for different library branches as of 2020/01/08 (Wednesday). Below the banner is an OPAC search interface with tabs for Article (JPN), WoS, Other Univ., NDL, WorldCat, and Others. The search bar includes a search button and a checkbox for 'contains review and tag'. At the bottom, there is a 'What's new' section with a view number dropdown and a Twitter feed for the library.
